Catalog: 2019-2020 Undergraduate Catalog
 Program: Peace and International Studies, B.A.

Peace and International Studies, B.A.

The Peace and International Studies major (PAI) is designed to provide undergraduate students with the background necessary to engage with the modern world, both professionally and personally. The PAI major reviews significant international issues while focusing on the nature of, and prospects for, peace in today's world. The combination of a basic introduction to international issues and peace studies encourages both intellectual understanding of, and active participation in, the contemporary global community. The PAI major supplements other Rockhurst major programs, providing the context in which students may both understand and transform the world around them. This interdisciplinary major is grounded in history, with additional emphases on foreign language, intercultural communication, cultural encounters, business and economics, and the moral/ethical bases of global communities.

Required courses:

Course Name	Credits:	Term Taken	Grade	Gen Ed
PAI 1200 - Peace, Culture and Society: Introduction to Peace and International Studies	(3) or
HS 1200 - Peace, Culture and Society: Introduction to Peace and International Studies	(3)
CT 3850 - Intercultural Communication	(3)
PAI 4940 - Peace and International Studies Capstone	(1)

Additional Requirements:

In addition, students complete 18 hours of upper-division credit hours (six courses distributed across the four elective course groupings described below). The student must also complete 12 semester hours of related upper-division courses. Coursework should be chosen in consultation with the PAI major advisor.

Historical Foundations:

Historical context is critical for understanding global issues, including politics, society, culture and thought, and economics. Choose a minimum of nine hours (three courses) from the list of offerings on Historical Foundations.

Course Name	Credits:	Term Taken	Grade	Gen Ed

TH 4480 - Buddhism	(3)

Note:

Students must also complete 12 hours of related upper division coursework, chosen under the direction of, and in close consultation with their major advisor. A grade of C or better is required in each upper-division course of the major. (A grade of C- will not satisfy this requirement.)

One semester of college level foreign language is also required.

Students must also satisfy International/Intercultural Immersion Experience:

PAI majors will complete an approved experiential learning opportunity including internships, study abroad programs, immersion trips, or service learning trips.

The experience may be fulfilled through service learning options in other courses as deemed appropriate by the chair of the department of History or the chair's designee.

This international/intercultural experience is required, but does not count towards a student's 18 upper-division credit hours in Peace and International Studies.
