Breakout Discussion Groups

Group 1: Higher Education Finance: Controlling Costs, Promoting Affordability and Developing a New Business Model – Windsor II

The traditional higher education business model seems unsustainable. Keeping college affordable is a priority for the state of Missouri, but higher education costs continue to rise. Learn more about the functions and relationships of the board finance committee with college and university CFOs and engage in a spirited discussion of challenges and ideas prompted by the current fiscal environment.

Moderator: Nikki Krawitz, Consultant on higher education finance for the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges and former Vice President for Finance and Administration, University of Missouri System

Panelists:

- Sharon Lindenbaum, Vice Chancellor of Finance and Administration, University of Missouri-Kansas City
- Marla Moody, Vice Chancellor for Finance, Ozarks Technical Community College
- Dave Rector, Vice President, Administration and Finance, Truman State University

Group 2: Breaking Down Barriers to College Completion – Parliament III

As Missouri continues to work toward achieving its Big Goal for Higher Education, removing barriers to college completion is key to improving outcomes and increasing the percentage of working-age adults with a degree or professional certificate. Last fall, nine colleges and universities were selected to participate in Missouri's first Completion Academy, where they developed strategies to increase their college completion rates. Panelists from several Missouri institutions will share the lessons they have learned as they implement changes aimed at helping more students earn the degrees they are seeking.

Moderator: Mike Baumgartner, Vice President for Finance and Special Projects, Complete College America

Panelists:

- Deborah Below, Vice President for Enrollment Management, Southeast Missouri State University
- Jeff Lashley, President, Moberly Area Community College
- Paul Long, Chief Academic Officer, Metropolitan Community College
- Tammy Randolph, Chair, Department of Mathematics, Southeast Missouri State University

Group 3: Linking Higher Education with Missouri's Economic and Workforce Needs – Windsor I

Higher education has taken on an increasingly important role in the economic development of communities throughout Missouri. Learn more about the ways higher education institutions and the business community in the St. Louis area are working together to meet the region's workforce needs and how their experiences can benefit communities across the state.

Moderator: Steven Johnson, Executive Vice President for Economic Development and Marketing Strategy, St. Louis Regional Chamber

Panelists:

- Kathy Reeves, Community Relations Manager for Enterprise Rent-A-Car
- Rod Nunn, Interim President, St. Louis Community College-Forest Park
- Steve Long, Associate Vice Chancellor for Workforce Solutions, St. Louis Community College
